"Could we use $10 to $25
outergarments to sell at $6.75?"

"Yes," we wired—and so can you.

Practically everything one requires for late summer wear—some of the silk dresses will be useful for fall—and the lingerie frocks will prove acceptable for evening wear. It is a clean-up of a manufacturer's stock of summer wearables, and exceptional opportunities are offered.

Think of 3-piece Linen Embroidered Suits selling for $6.75; $25.00 would be the usual price. These suits are beautifully trimmed in Pt. Venice bandings.

Then, too, the embroidered linen frocks are really works of art, many having the fashionable satin girdle attached—$6.75.

Linen Coat Suits of the real heavy and expensive linen, oyster white, natural, or blue, and plain or trim-

INDEPENDENTS WIN TENNESSEE FIGHT

Judiciary Ticket Elected by Large Majority.

LITTLE SCRATCHING IS DONE

Jeff McCann, Who Convicted the Coopers, Is Defeated by Judge William Hart for Prosecuting Attorney in Nashville District—Republican Is Elected in Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 4.—The independent judiciary ticket in Tennessee appears to-night to have been elected by a considerable majority.

Some of the large Democratic counties in the State which were relied upon to support the regulars turned out a light and disappointing vote.

In Eastern Tennessee and other counties having Republican proclivities, a large or full vote was polled, and the independents' alliance with the Republicans has carried each of the three grand divisions of the State.

There was very little scratching, and the independents have probably elected every man.

McCann Is Defeated.

In the Nashville district, where the trial of Col. Duncan Cooper for the murder of Carmack was made a local issue in the race for criminal judge, Jeff McCann, the prosecuting attorney, who ran on his record for securing the conviction of the Coopers, was defeated by Judge William Hart, the present incumbent of the office, who was a Patterson sympathizer, and by inference friendly to the Coopers.

In Memphis Harry Anderson, a Republican, has been elected chancellor, defeating F. H. Heiskell. This is the first Republican elected to office in Memphis and Shelby County in many years. Anderson, however, the regular Democratic tickets have won in Shelby County, although the Republicans for the first time in a number of years had out a full opposition ticket.

GAYNOR'S JOB A BIG ONE.

His the Greatest Office in the Union
With One Exception.

Utica, Aug. 4.—Editor Arthur T. Smith, of the Herkimer Citizen, wrote to Mayor Gaynor, of New York, a few days ago to find out if a certain boomer named Oliver A. Brewer had authority to go to the country organizing so-called Gaynor clubs. The following reply has been received:

Dear Mr. Smith: I thank you for your favor of July 25. No one has any authority from me to form any political clubs in my name, or to say that I am a candidate for governor. I regret exceedingly that anybody has felt at liberty to do the like. I have no ambition whatever, except to fill the office which I now hold fairly well. It is, in fact, a much greater office than that of governor, if I may speak plainly. The political, executive, and administrative powers attached to it are greater than those of any office in the United States, save one. Very truly yours,

W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.

McKinley Is Sherman's Guest.
Utica, N. Y., Aug. 4.—William B. McKinley, of Illinois, the chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, was in Utica this morning, the guest of Vice President Sherman, before Mr. Sherman started for the Adirondacks. It is announced that Mr. Sherman will take the stump for the Congressional committee from August 25 to September 20. Where the Vice President will speak is not known. Mr. Sherman has simply assigned so much time to the committee, and his help is entirely at its disposal. It is said that most of his speeches will be in the far Western States.

Ballinger Holds His State.
Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 4.—Insurgency was roundly denounced by speakers at the Republican State convention yesterday. The platform adopted endorsed the administration of President Taft, and also that of the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Ballinger. The convention nominated the five present Supreme Court judges as candidates for re-election.

Wins on Graft Charge Issue.
Austin, Aug. 4.—With less than 3,000 votes cast at the recent primary still out, Bascom Thomas, candidate for lieutenant governor, is leading A. Davidson, who ran for re-election, by about 1,500 votes. Thomas' nomination seems to be assured. He was expelled from the last senate because he charged that graft existed in that body. He made the race for lieutenant governor on that issue, and if he is elected he will provide over several of the senators who voted for his expulsion.

Roosevelt Tired from Trip.
Oyster Bay, Aug. 4.—Col. Roosevelt returned to Sagamore Hill to-night after his trip into the coal fields of Pennsylvania. He was pretty tired. He will go to New York to-morrow morning for business at the Outlook office.

Will Ballinger Quit Job?
Wide Difference of Opinion Arises Among Administrators.

There is wide difference of opinion in Washington among persons in close touch with the administration as to whether or not Secretary of the Interior, Ballinger will resign.

Men higher up in the Republican party are strongly urging him to retire, and President Taft is being supplied with letters from Republican politicians declaring that the presence of Ballinger in the Cabinet is a handicap. However, it is said here by those close to the President that Ballinger does not want to get out and that the President will not ask him to do so.

Ballinger believes that it would be a calamity for him to quit.

Packers' Inquiry Continues.
Chicago, Aug. 4.—Eight out-of-town witnesses were summoned before the Federal grand jury to-day to testify regarding the acts of the big meat packers.

THE WOODMAN.

"Oh, woodman, spare that tree! Touch not a single bough!" The woodman looked at me, and mopped his furrowed brow. And from a tall brown jar a long, long swig he drank, and said: "I guess you are a conservation crank. And in that case, my lad, you're surely off your base; the whole thing is a fad—a doggone wild goose chase. Now, what are Pinchot's claims, that agitate these times? We'll just review the games of these here Guggenheims; I have the papers here, and also the reports that Garfield made last year—decisions of the courts—the text of Brandeis' speech, and Ballinger's reply—that man is sure a peach—there's no green in his eye. But if we'd understand the case from first to last, and all the projects planned, the contracts hard and fast, we'll simply have to start away back fifty years; I have it all by heart, and if you'll lend your ears—" "Oh, woodman, chop that tree! Spare not a single branch! I see it's up to me to jump this blooming ranch!"

SHERMAN DENIES CHARGES OF GORE

Camp, just twenty minutes before the wires brought to Utica news of the sensational charge made against him.

At first he was disposed to ignore the matter, stating that it did not deserve to be dignified by a denial, but later he gave the brief statement.

The Vice President intends to remain several days in the Adirondacks with Mrs. Sherman, who is convalescing after her recent severe illness in Washington.

GORE ACCUSES SHERMAN

AS THE "MAN HIGHER UP"

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 4.—The special committee of the House of Representatives investigating the McMurray Indian land contracts was thrown into confusion to-day, when Senator Gore named Vice President Sherman as the "man higher up" in the scandal.

Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, and Representative B. S. McGuire, of Oklahoma, were also mentioned by the blind Senator from Oklahoma in connection with the alleged attempt to bribe him just before Congress adjourned.

Senator Gore at first declined to mention the name of the Vice President, declaring the high office made him reluctant to offer it when it had come to him as second-hand testimony. The persistent questioning of Representative Burke, chairman of the committee, finally exploded the sensation of the investigation.

"When I scoffed at the offer of a bribe, even if raised to $50,000, as Hammond suggested it might be," testified Senator Gore, "my visitor (Hammond) at my office in Washington went on to say other members of Congress were interested in the contracts. He said Senator Curtis was interested and Congressman McGuire, of Oklahoma, was interested, and then mentioned the name of a man higher up in the government. I was appalled when I heard that name."

"What was the name of that man higher up?" said Chairman Burke.

"Well," replied Senator Gore, "I don't like to say. Indeed, I could not repeat it without a great deal of reluctance."

"Now, Senator Gore," explained Mr. Burke, "this committee has come here to get all the facts, and we want you to tell all you know."

"Well, as that is the case," responded Mr. Gore, "I will tell all I know. The man mentioned by Hammond as being higher up and interested in the McMurray contracts was Vice President Sherman."

No further questions were asked concerning the mention of Vice President Sherman.

Senator Gore explained that the offer of $50,000 for his vote followed his opposition in Congress to the ratification of the Indian contracts in which the clique was interested. They affected the Choctaw and Chickasaw tribes, which are the most industrious and home-loving of the last of the red men.

"In 1908," said Senator Gore, "President Roosevelt refused to give his approval to certain contracts which McMurray had procured from the Indians as tribes. Under the law the contracts made with tribes of Indians were not valid until approved by the President. In the same year McMurray procured contracts individually with about 10,000 of the Indians, whereby the Indians were to give 10 per cent of the gross receipts from the sale of their lands."

"I thought it would be absurd for the Indians to pay that vast sum of money for services which the government was in duty bound to perform. The McMurray interests then went to President Roosevelt, and I sent a telegram to the President urging him not to approve of the contracts."

"It was notable how active were the McMurray interests. When I called on Secretary of the Interior Ballinger to protest against the contracts I was told not to talk so loud as an ex-Senator Long, of Kansas, was present and he was interested in the contracts."

"I had introduced in the Senate a resolution requiring that all contracts made with Indians should be approved by Congress before they became valid. On May 5 last the committee having it under consideration instructed Senator Hughes, of Colorado, to report it favorably."

"The very next day Jake Hammond, of Lawton, Okla., came to my office and said he had a telegram directing him to visit me and that he was interested in the McMurray contracts."

"Then he mentioned the name of an official very high up in the government. And when I expressed astonishment Hammond said: 'Well, you know there is a lot of money in this thing. If you say the word I will arrange for the $50,000. There will be no checks in the deal and no marked money. It will be all new, clean money.'"

"Hammond said, 'There is a lot of money tied up in this deal and a big fee for somebody.'"

"He then explained he wanted me to withdraw my bill, or at least have it reported unfavorably. It seems he did not know it had already been reported favorably."

"Hammond told me there was a United States Senator interested and a Congressman. I was very much surprised. He also referred to an official high up," said Senator Gore.

"Who were they?" asked Chairman Burke.

"They are Senator Curtis, of Kansas, and Congressman McGuire, of Oklahoma."

"I believe you made mention of some official 'high up,'" said Burke.

"Hammond suggested that it was Vice President Sherman," replied Gore. This statement caused a profound sensation.

Gore said that he understood that Mr.
